Who is Morhwen?

For me, she is a role model, an elf born in Tolkien's world. An innate fighter who fiercely cares for her people. A kind and protective leader, and a fierce enemy.

When did you get into cosplay? Last season, we saw your desert-themed cosplay.

I've always loved makeup characterization; I like change and diversity, so becoming someone different is great! And the desert and the Egyptian theme were the catalyst for getting started, as I've loved that mythology since I was very young.

What's your cosplay process like?

It all starts in my head. Who do I want to be this time? Next is my magic chair. I sit there and just let my imagination run wild. Sometimes I don't even prepare anything; I just grab the paintbrush and let it go.

How do you choose the locations and who helps you take the photo, or do you do it alone?

I always do everything alone. I use photos taken beforehand if I can't go at the time, then I use all the backgrounds I've gathered and added them to the process.

What does "all the backgrounds I've gathered and added to the process" mean?

I use editing, add my photos as a background, and voila, magic is done. A little creativity and that's it.

Let's talk about the dresses. Do you buy them or are they sewn?

I buy them, although many of the details are handmade, like the potions or necklaces, or I simply add them to my wardrobe strategically.

What message would you send to those who like cosplay but don't dare to show it publicly?

That life is one, that they shouldn't remain in that cage of normalcy, that they should dream and enjoy it. There's nothing more magical than being able to be whoever you want to be in your dreams, even if it's just for a little while.

Opala [KRAK #90]: Love it, the animals are so cute.

Zof [VN #96]: I like almost everything... Not the bears, they creep me out. That Cyrus looks like he came out of jail.

Klauudya [XOXO #89]: So far, I'm liking it. I think there could be more ways to get the crystals, but I'm glad there aren't any tokens! Haha

QueenB1313 [PA13 #89]: Definitely not missing those tiles! I think we could do with more ways to get cryolite, but other than that I like it so far!

Capu91 [PPPH #98]: I've been really lost since they changed the buttons, haha

THE BARTENDER FROM KINK NINJA HAREM REOPENS HIS BAR AFTER CLOSING DUE TO IMMIGRATION

Dwf02 [PA13 #89] contacted the Luxury Time team to announce the reopening of his bar after being closed due to the end of last season and migration. We contacted a regular customer, and she shared her experience with us.

"I'm opening 'Apollos Hallow' bar and I'm the bartender," commented Dwf02, adding that "it has been open for a while but unfortunately due to the migration and the end of the season it didn't see a whole lot of business".

He emphasized that he plans to dust off his tux and make it a music venue, to warm up from the winter of Season 4. It will serve hot and cold drinks; he said that it will be a neutral territory where friends and enemies coexist.

Since he's part of kink ninja harem, he said, "The harem may come in time to time but I only joined since I can make drinks hence". Its catalog includes soda, coffee, tea, water, mead, wine, hot chocolate, lemonade, and milk.

"Anyway I manage it personally and decided to build and open since there was drama in (State) #94, I wanted a place for everyone to come and relax without having to worry about enemies and the like," he concluded.

Luxury Time asked frequent customer Raven Dragón (PhNx #93) of Apollos Hallow, and she commented that "it offers everything, haha. The thing is, he knows how to please the palate, and the drink comes with good advice and moral support." She added that "he always offers you a complimentary one." Raven Dragón concluded by emphasizing that the bar is great.
